

PRESS RELEASE
FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUMAN CONNECTION ANNOUNCES SOURCE CODE FOR THEIR NEXT-GENERATION SOCIAL NETWORK IS NOW AVAILABLE ON GITHUB

The open-source knowledge and action network rethinks social networking and makes their source code available to the public.

WEILHEIM/TECK (February 15, 2018) – HUMAN CONNECTION, the next-generation social, knowledge, and action network, today announced that the source code for their innovative network is now available on Github for anyone who is interested in viewing, sharing, altering or enhancing the code. Set up as a non-profit organization and headquartered in Germany, the platform combines networking, knowledge exchange, and opportunities to take action in one interface to promote positive local and global societal change.

"Transparency is one of our guiding principles when it comes to building a new kind of social network that promotes true connection and interaction between people who are passionate about changing the world for the better," says Dennis Hack, founder of Human Connection. "Making the source code available is just one step of being transparent."

The source code is available on Github:

<https://github.com/human-connection/>

Human Connection invites programmers around the world to jointly work on the source code (JavaScript, Vue, nuxt) and support the idea of a truly social network by modifying the code or program additional functionalities. The code is released under a creative commons license, non-commercial.

JOIN THE ALPHA VERSION OF HUMAN CONNECTION

All supporters of the Human Connection crowdfunding campaign are invited to experience the first available functions in the alpha version, including "CAN DO'S", "TAKE ACTION" and filter options according to topics or personal emotions. Users can also create posts, comment or tag someone, show support by using the "MEGAPHONE" button, and connect with other users.

Networking to serve the world
www.human-connection.org

Page 1 of 2

Human Connection is designed to bridge the gap between negative news and positive action individuals can take by connecting users to a non-profit organization or activity near them. Users can affect positive social change both locally and on a global scale directly from within the network, digitally and in real life.

Provided that sufficient funding has been obtained the public (beta) version of Human Connection is projected to launch in the fall of 2018. Several features were developed in collaboration with INALCO from the University Sorbonne in Paris and the Stuttgart Media University in Germany.

To support the Indiegogo campaign (running until February 17, 2018) and get invited to the alpha, visit: igg.me/at/humanconnection/

To learn more about Human Connection and how to get involved, visit: <https://human-connection.org>

Learn more about the network's features in the „Bee-Movie“ on YouTube: youtu.be/Lpf9f7D25zE

ABOUT HUMAN CONNECTION

Human Connection is a nonprofit social, knowledge, and action network headquartered in Weilheim-Teck, Germany, with the mission to turn negative news into positive action and connect people around philanthropic causes and social innovation projects. The platform is designed to be free of advertising, open-source, protecting user data, and fostering a sense of community and cooperation around the world's most pressing topics.

Find Human Connection on Facebook, Twitter, and YouTube.

MEDIA CONTACT

For interview requests with founder Dennis Hack, please contact: press@human-connection.org